

James Gorman

James Gorman currently serves as a Labor Relations Attorney. In doing so, he provides assistance and counsel to managers and administrators on all aspects of labor relations and employment law issues. Jim also represents the Court System in proceedings before the New York State Public Employment Relations Board and arbitration tribunals. He also participates in collective bargaining.

Prior to his current position, Jim served as a supervisor and an elected union officer. As a union officer, Jim's primary responsibility consisted of presenting arbitration cases involving contract disputes and disciplinary proceedings. Jim also lectured extensively to union delegates regarding all facets of collective bargaining.

While working full time, Jim earned a Bachelor of Science degree, Master of Science degree in Industrial and Labor Relations from Baruch College and a law degree from Hofstra University School of Law.

Jim is admitted to practice law in New York State Courts and in the United States District Court-Southern District of New York.